Keep in mind that the home page is not always the first page that visitors land on when they enter your website (especially if you have a smart education-based marketing and SEO strategy).

So every page on your website should lead visitors to learn more about you and take action, not just the home page.

WEBSITE LOGO

The logo section of the website will commonly be the space for identifying the website brand. While personal blogs and other non-brand-driven websites may only include the name of the website here, this spot is the first point of call for establishing a brand on the website. This image or text is often linked to the website main page, often known as “home”.

CALL TO ACTION

A call to action (“CTA”) is the part of a website that incites visitors to take action. It usually involves an attention-grabbing headline, a sentence or paragraph about the benefits of taking the action, and a button or opt-in box.

CALL TO ACTION

A call to action (sometimes abbreviated CTA) is a word, phrase, button, or image that asks a website visitor to take a specific action. It is simply a website element asking your visitors to do something.

POSTS AND "FEED" CONTENT

A handy way to get visitors to your website engaging with the content on your website is by offering a "feed" of content.

This, like a slideshow of recommended products or, in this case, the latest blog posts, serves to pique the visitor's interest and guide them to completing website goals (in the case of the dummy website, reading a blog post).

INTERNAL LINKS

Internal links are useful for creating an ideal flow through your website. In the example, the link takes users to the blog page, where they can peruse the full list of blog posts and find something that interests them and effectively completing a website goal.

Share

According to a study, a whopping 93% of B2B marketers use email marketing. Even another study claims that emails are regarded as the second most effective method for customer acquisition after Search Engine Optimization. With a lot of trust still on this digital form of marketing, planning and strategizing for the same also needs to be addressed with caution.

And designing your email marketing plan is not a cakewalk. You need to intelligently craft a series of emails and it's not matter of a single email that can persuade them to buy your product or service offerings.

- You need to make sure that with the first email itself you don't stress on selling.
- Rather make it an interesting one by providing valuable information, particularly something with the type of problems they face.
- Segment your target audience in a way that guides them to take decision.

Developing a B2B email marketing plan in line with your business's goals and vision is essential. You need to have a conceptual clarity that would aid you to craft better emails in future.

Let's look at the five key steps that would help you in creating your email marketing plan.

Here we go,

Step 1 – Understand Your Target Audience

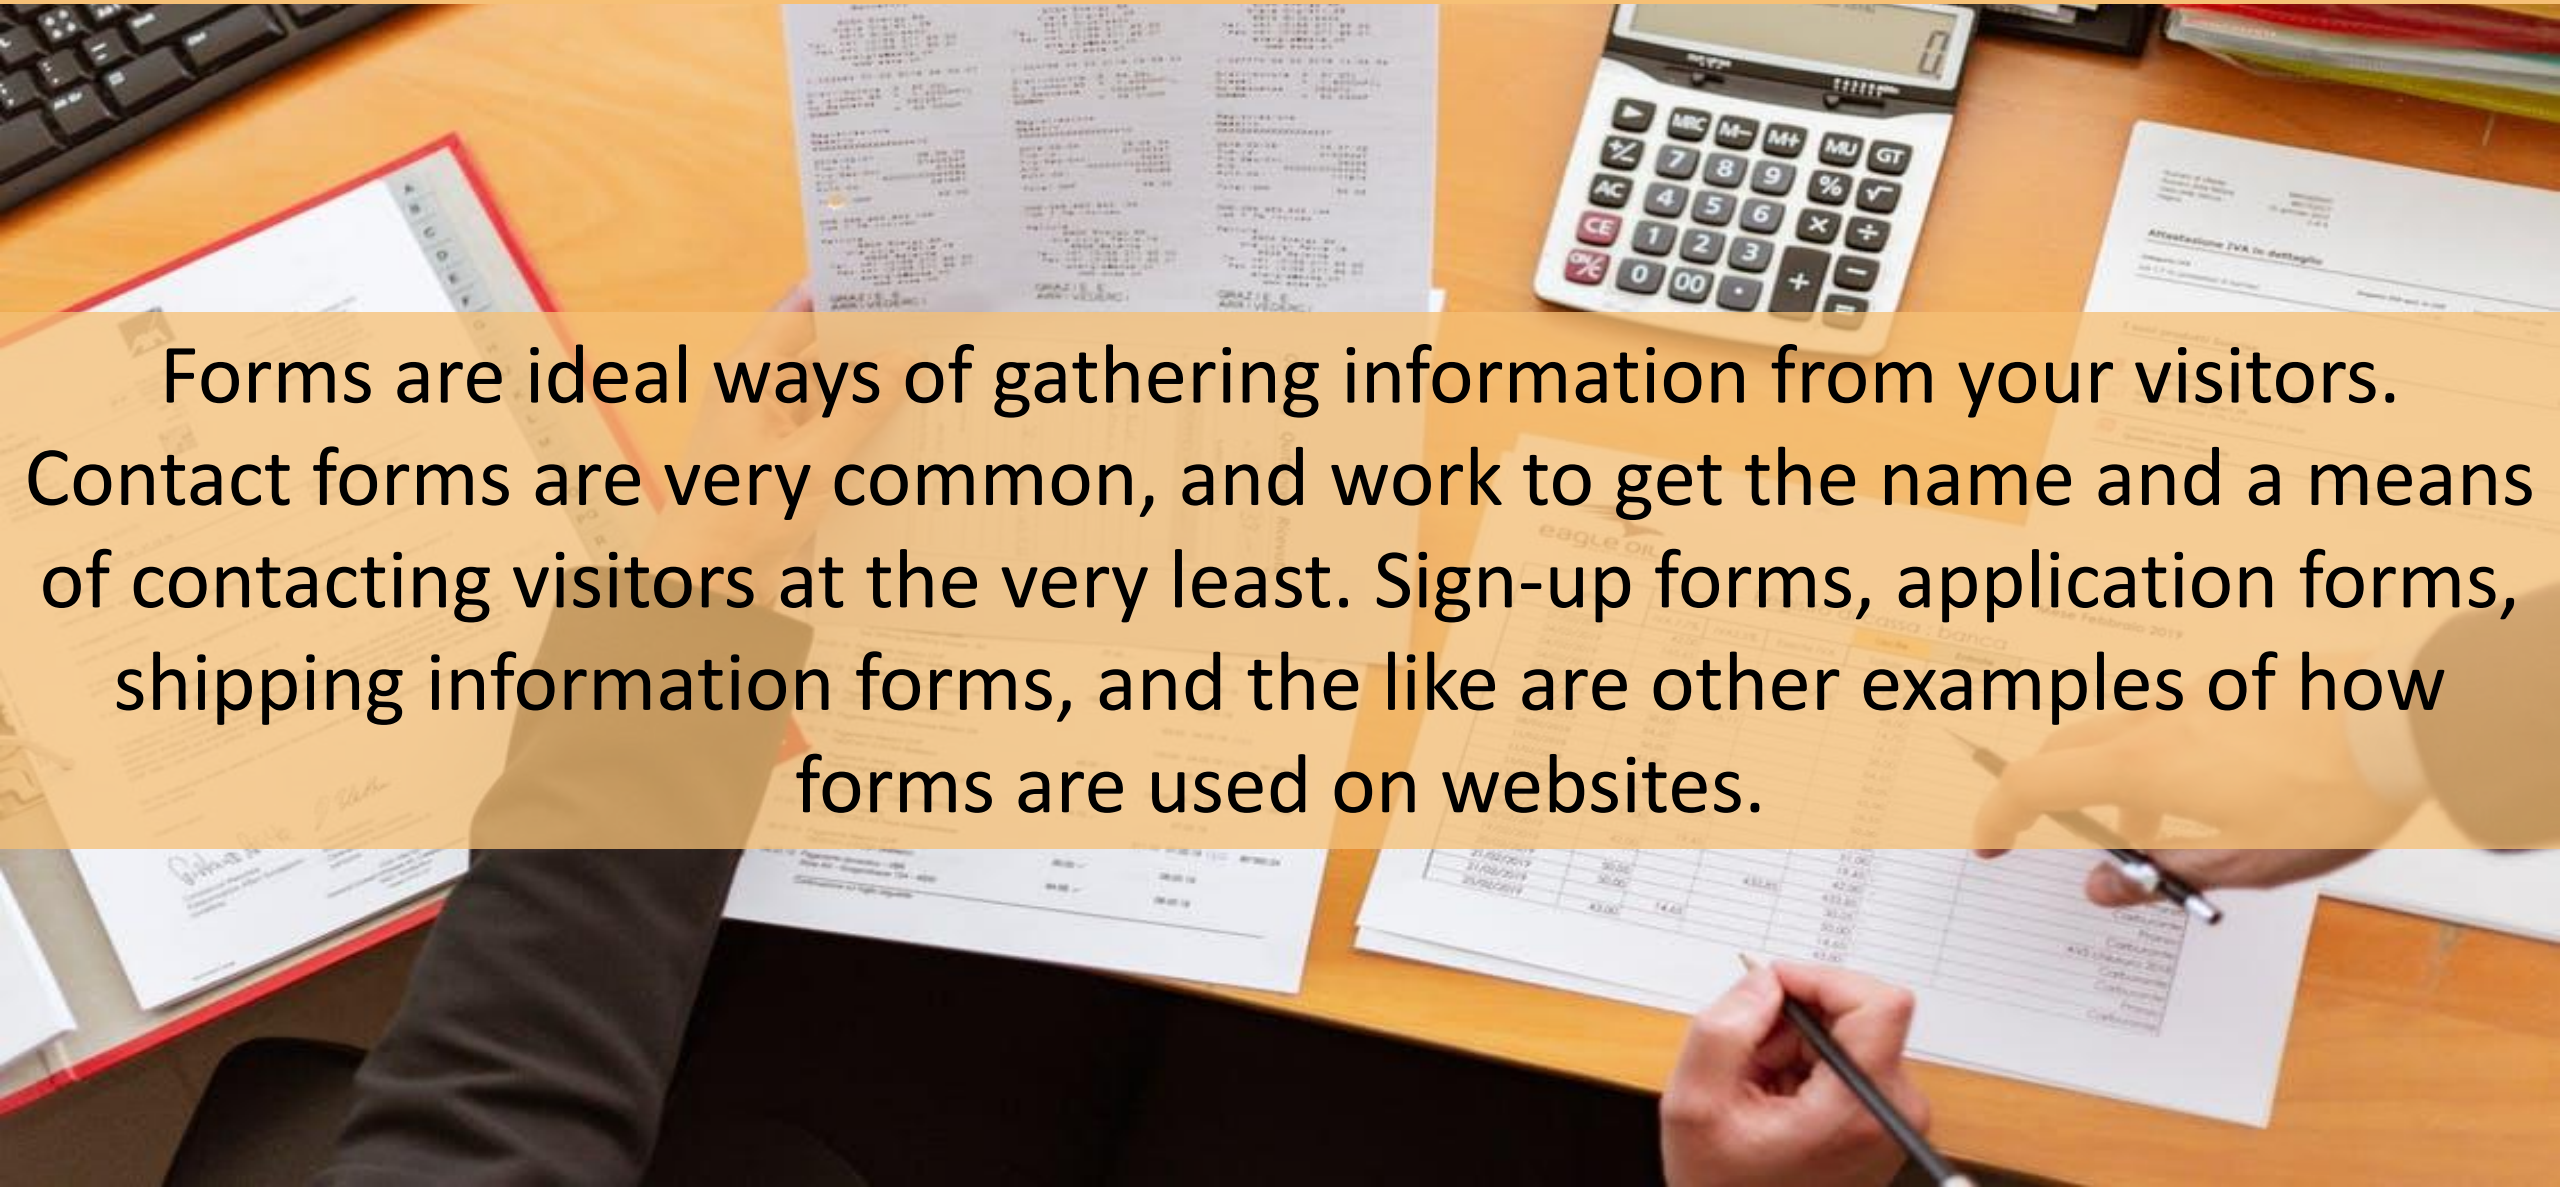
FORMS



Forms are ideal ways of gathering information from your visitors. Contact forms are very common, and work to get the name and a means of contacting visitors at the very least. Sign-up forms, application forms, shipping information forms, and the like are other examples of how forms are used on websites.

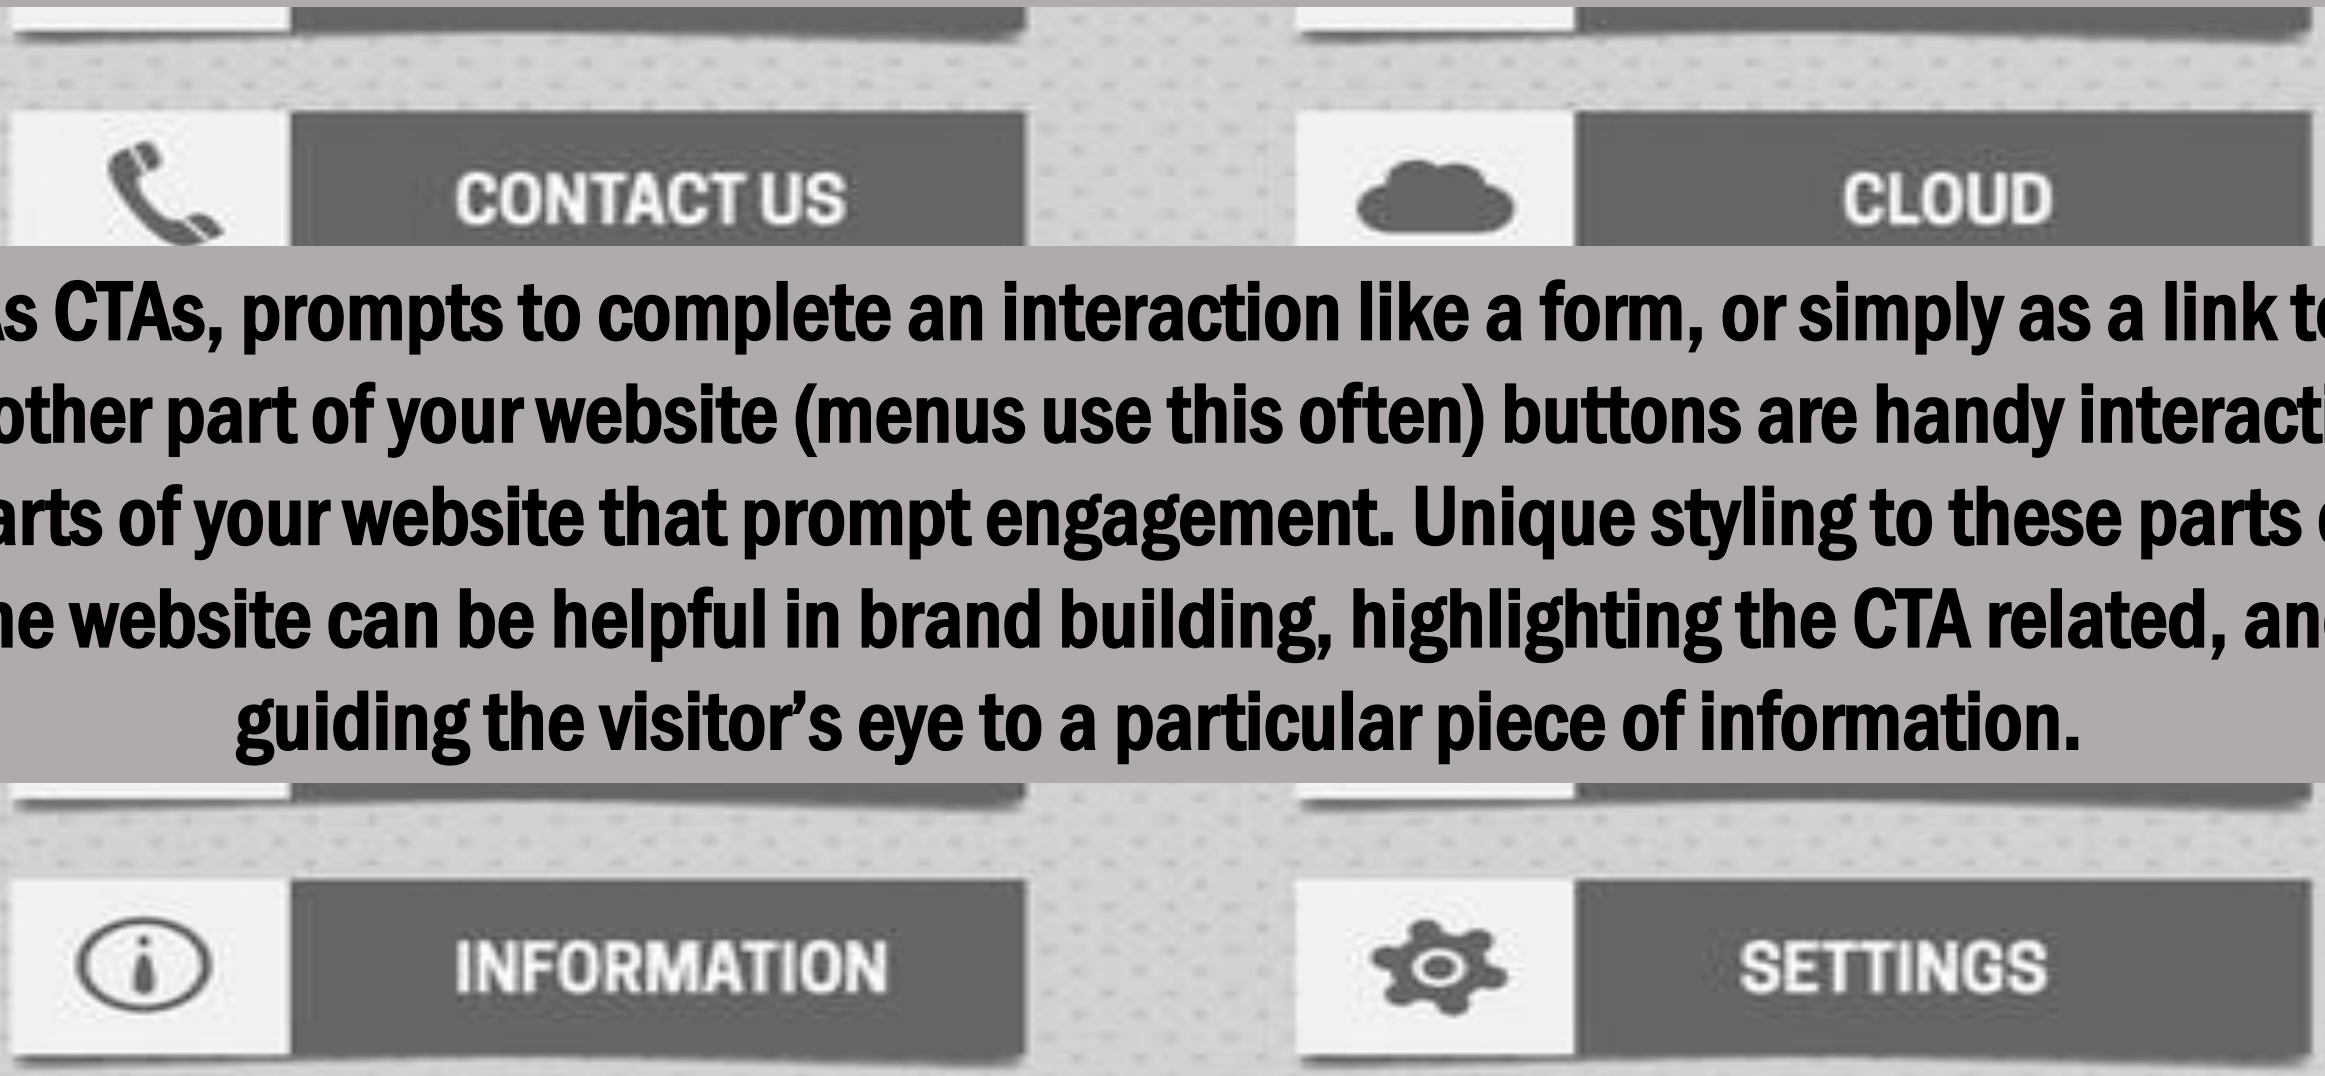
BUTTONS



As CTAs, prompts to complete an interaction like a form, or simply as a link to another part of your website (menus use this often) buttons are handy interactive parts of your website that prompt engagement. Unique styling to these parts of the website can be helpful in brand building, highlighting the CTA related, and guiding the visitor's eye to a particular piece of information.

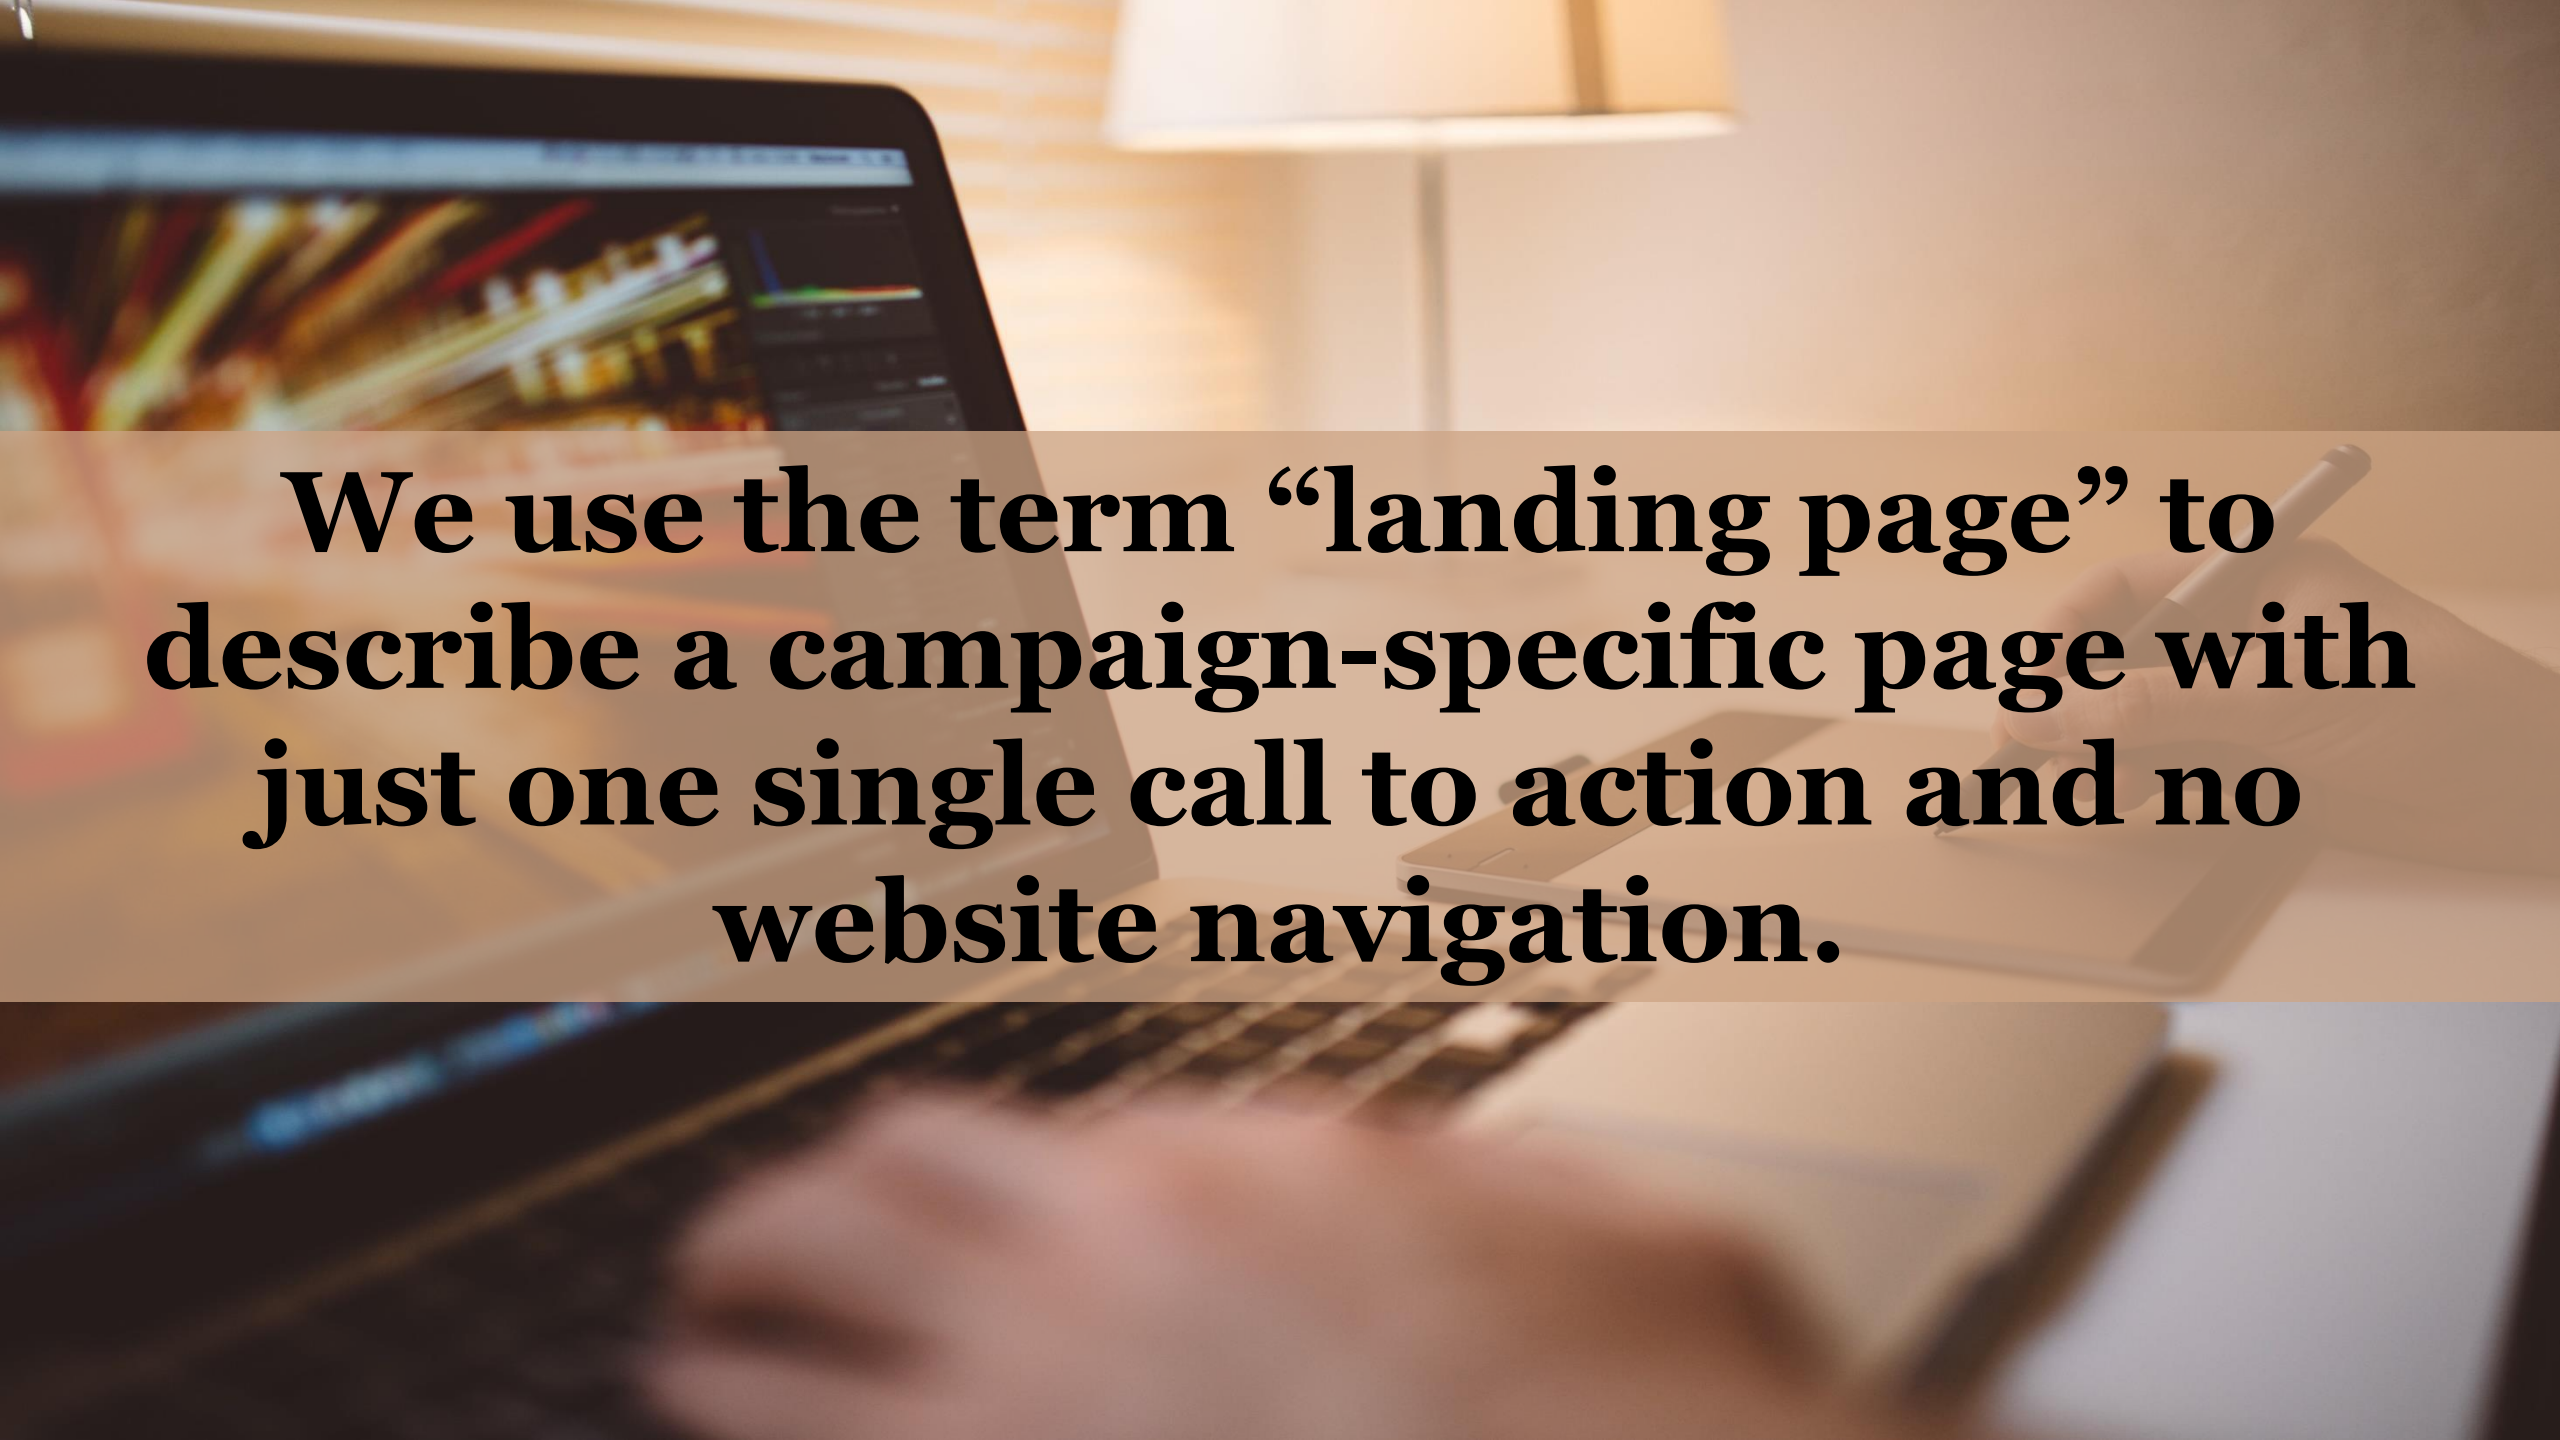
Conversion



We use the term “landing page” to describe a campaign-specific page with just one single call to action and no website navigation.

THE KEY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A HOMEPAGE AND A LANDING PAGE

Landing pages are designed with a single focus or goal i.e., marketing. Home page is mainly to attract or build a credibility in customers.

2 TYPES OF LANDING PAGES

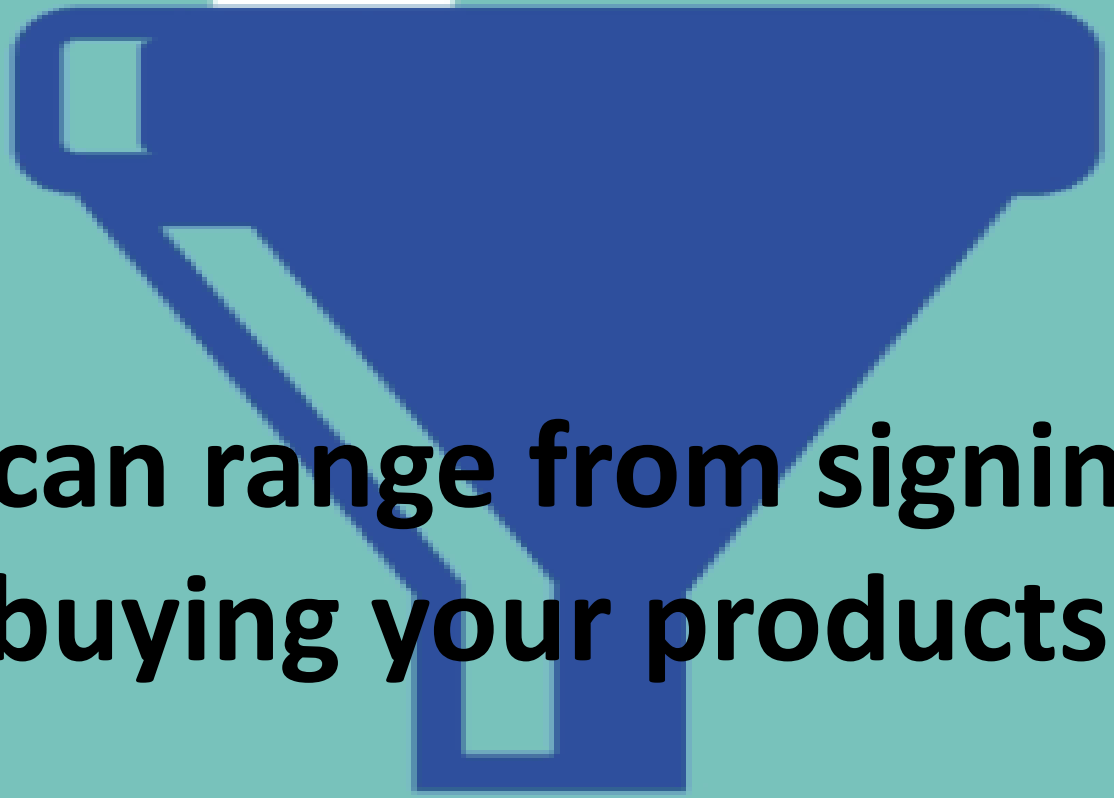
WHAT ARE FUNNELS?

A conversion funnel, also known as a sales or marketing funnel, describes the process you create to attract potential buyers to your website and guide them to take actions like signing up, buying your products and services etc.

FUNNELS ARE MAINLY FOR SALES

Attract potential buyers to your website and guide them to take some desired action.

FUNNEL PROCESS



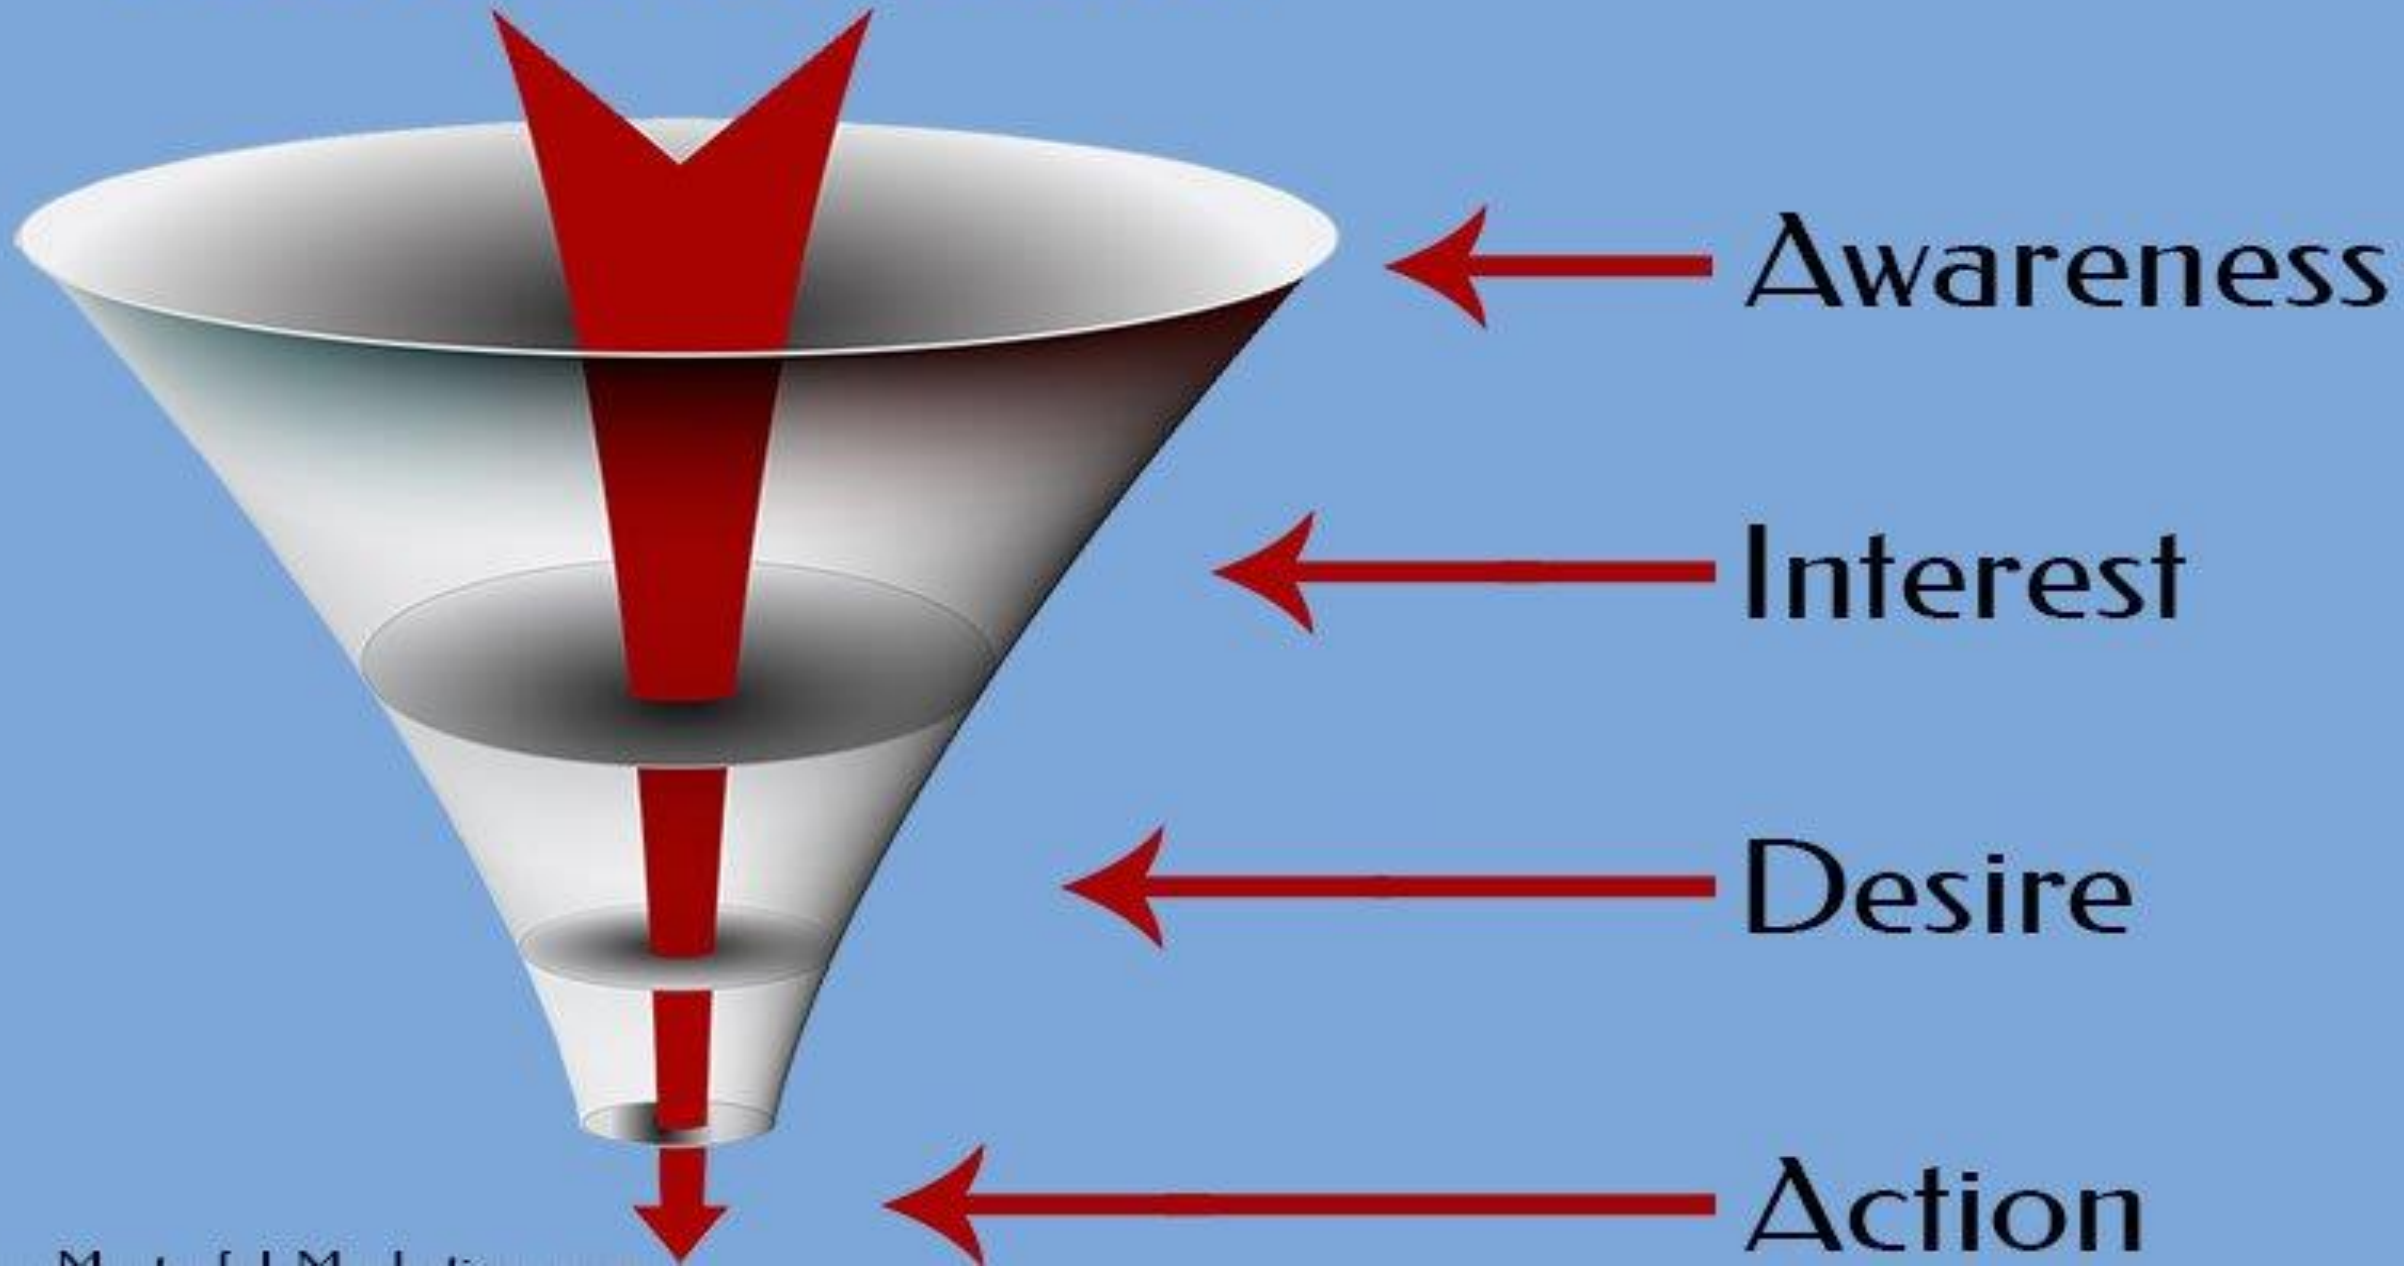
The actions can range from signing up for your email list to buying your products and services.

WHY PEOPLE USE FUNNELS

For Conversion and Lead generation

When someone on your website to do sign up, make a purchase, fill out a form etc.

Conversion Funnel



FUNNEL CONVERSION PROCESS

- Create awareness for your products and services
- Build interest in what you have to offer
- Increase desire by educating them on how you can help solve their problem
- Take the desired action for their stage of the buying process

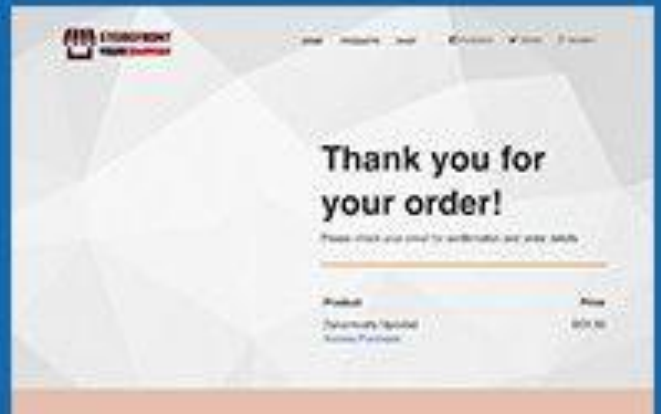
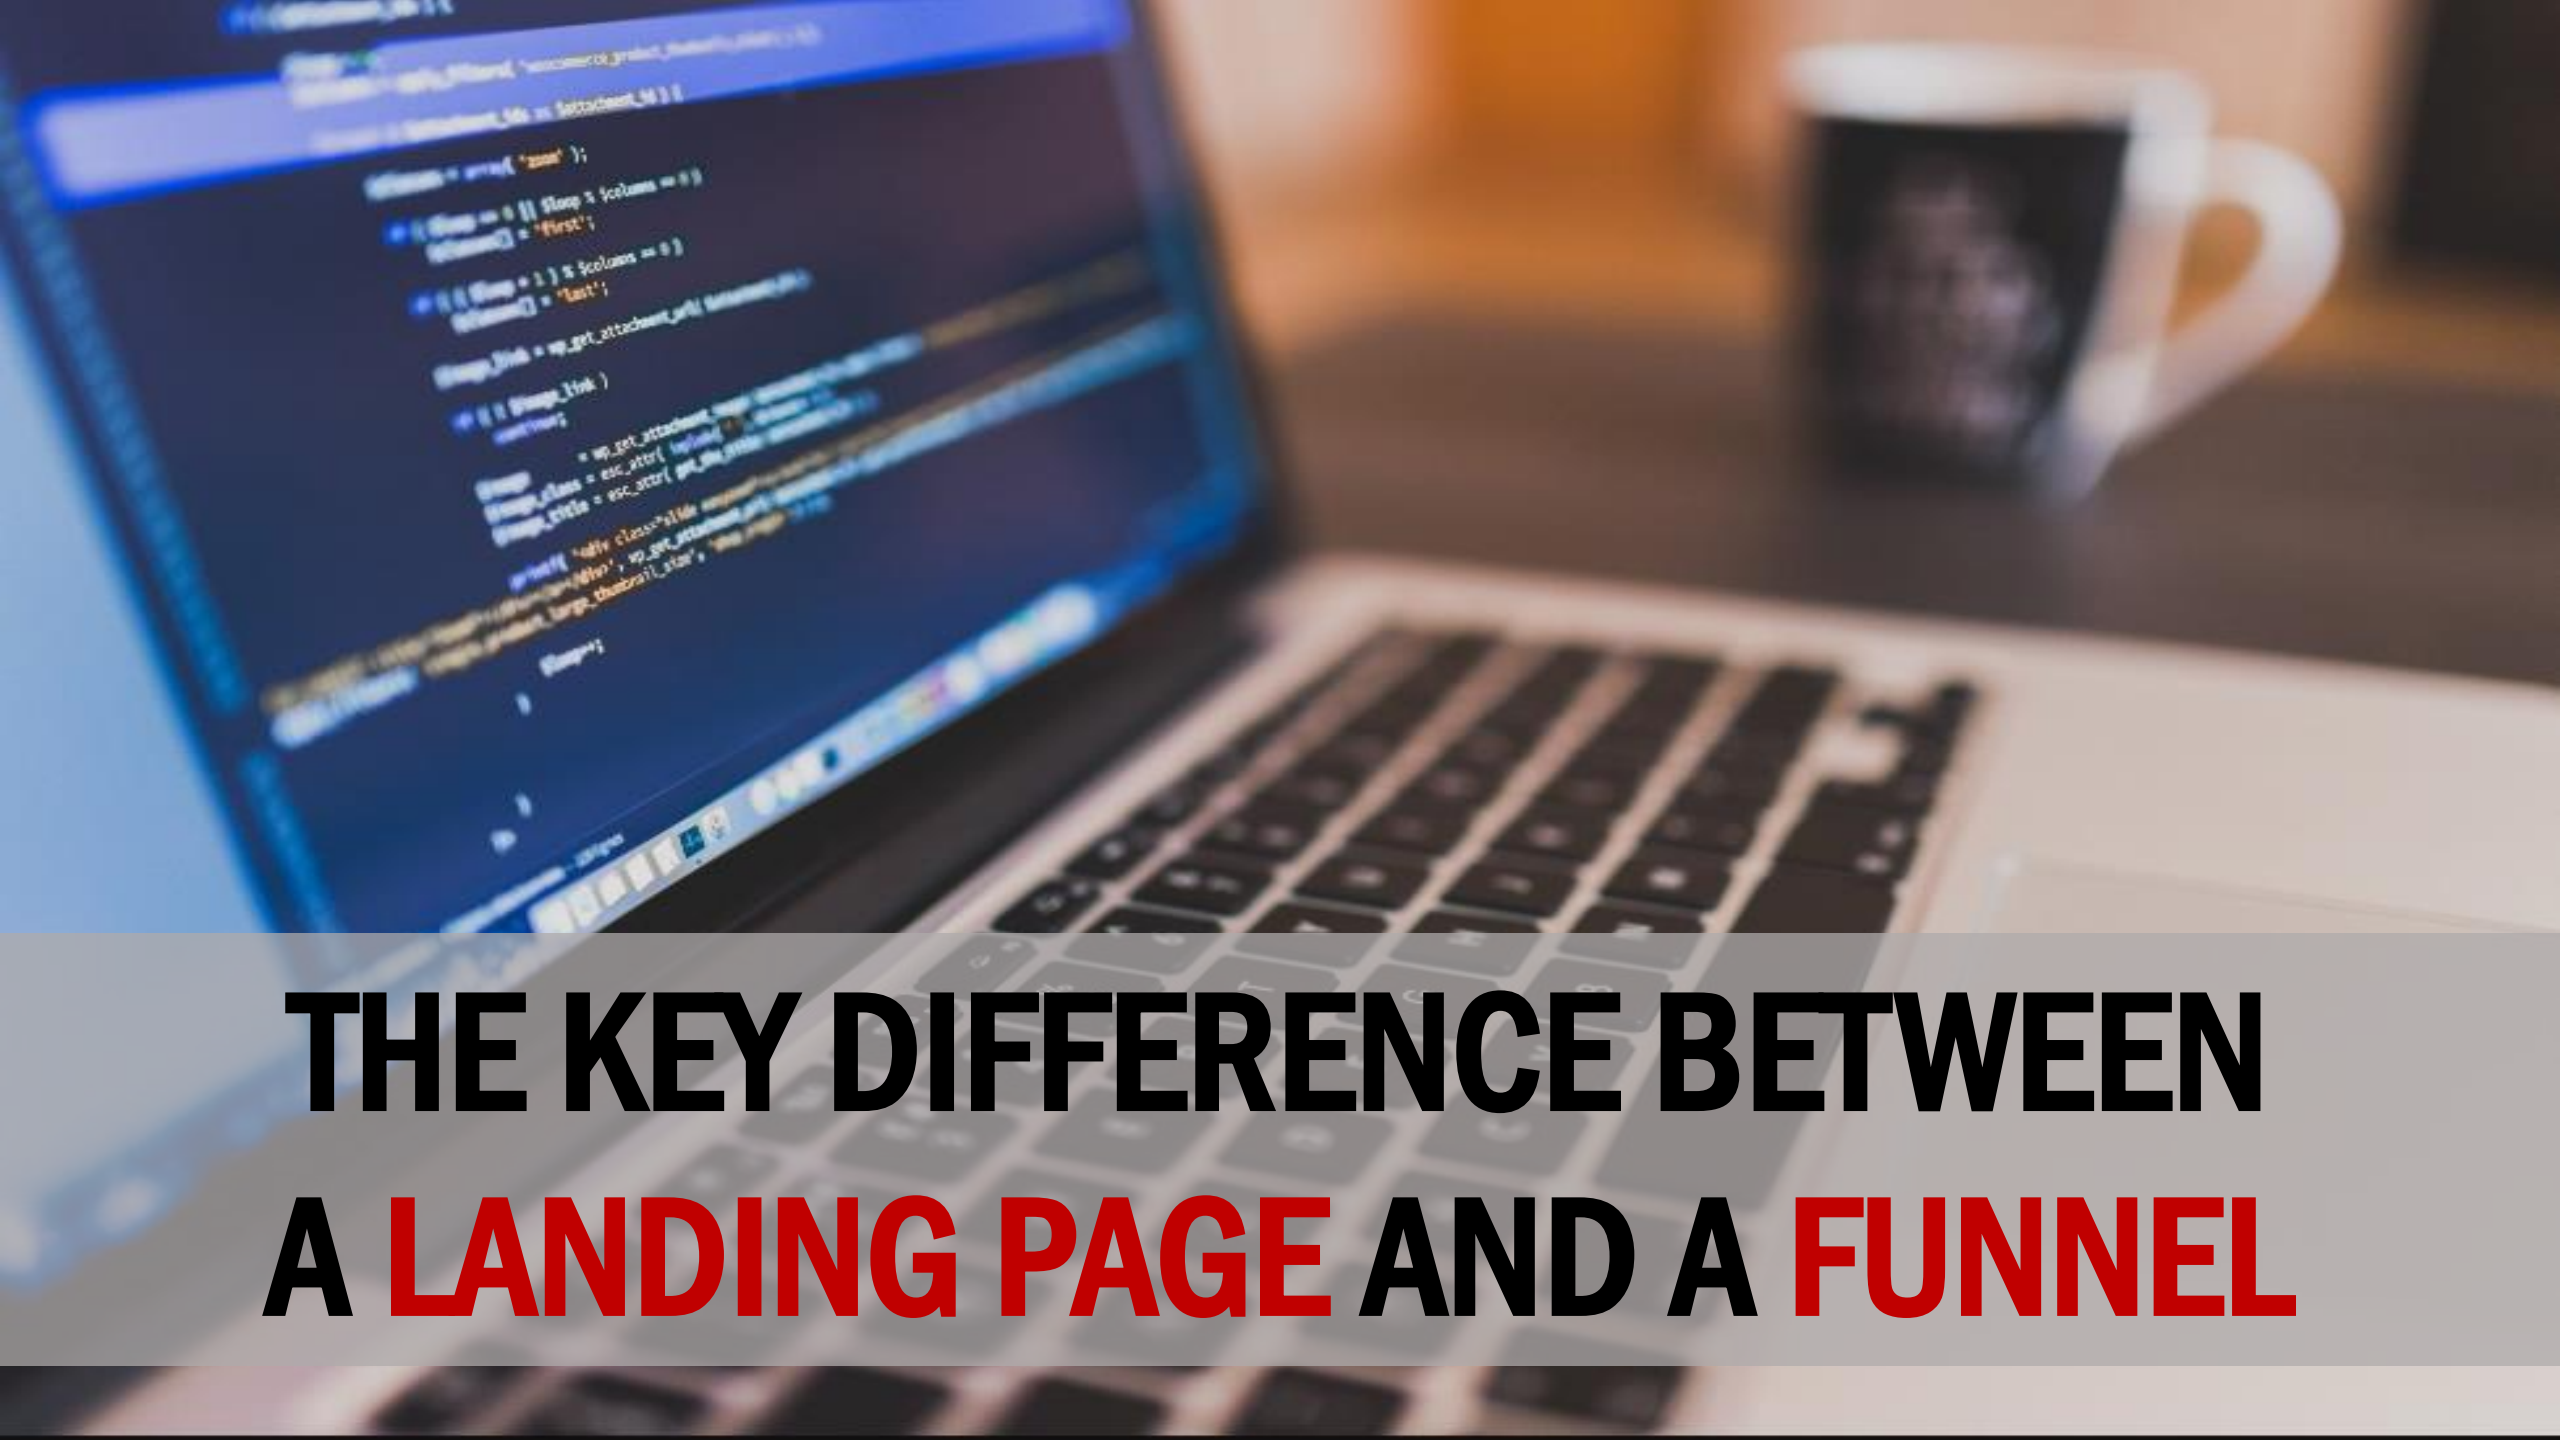
Thank You Page

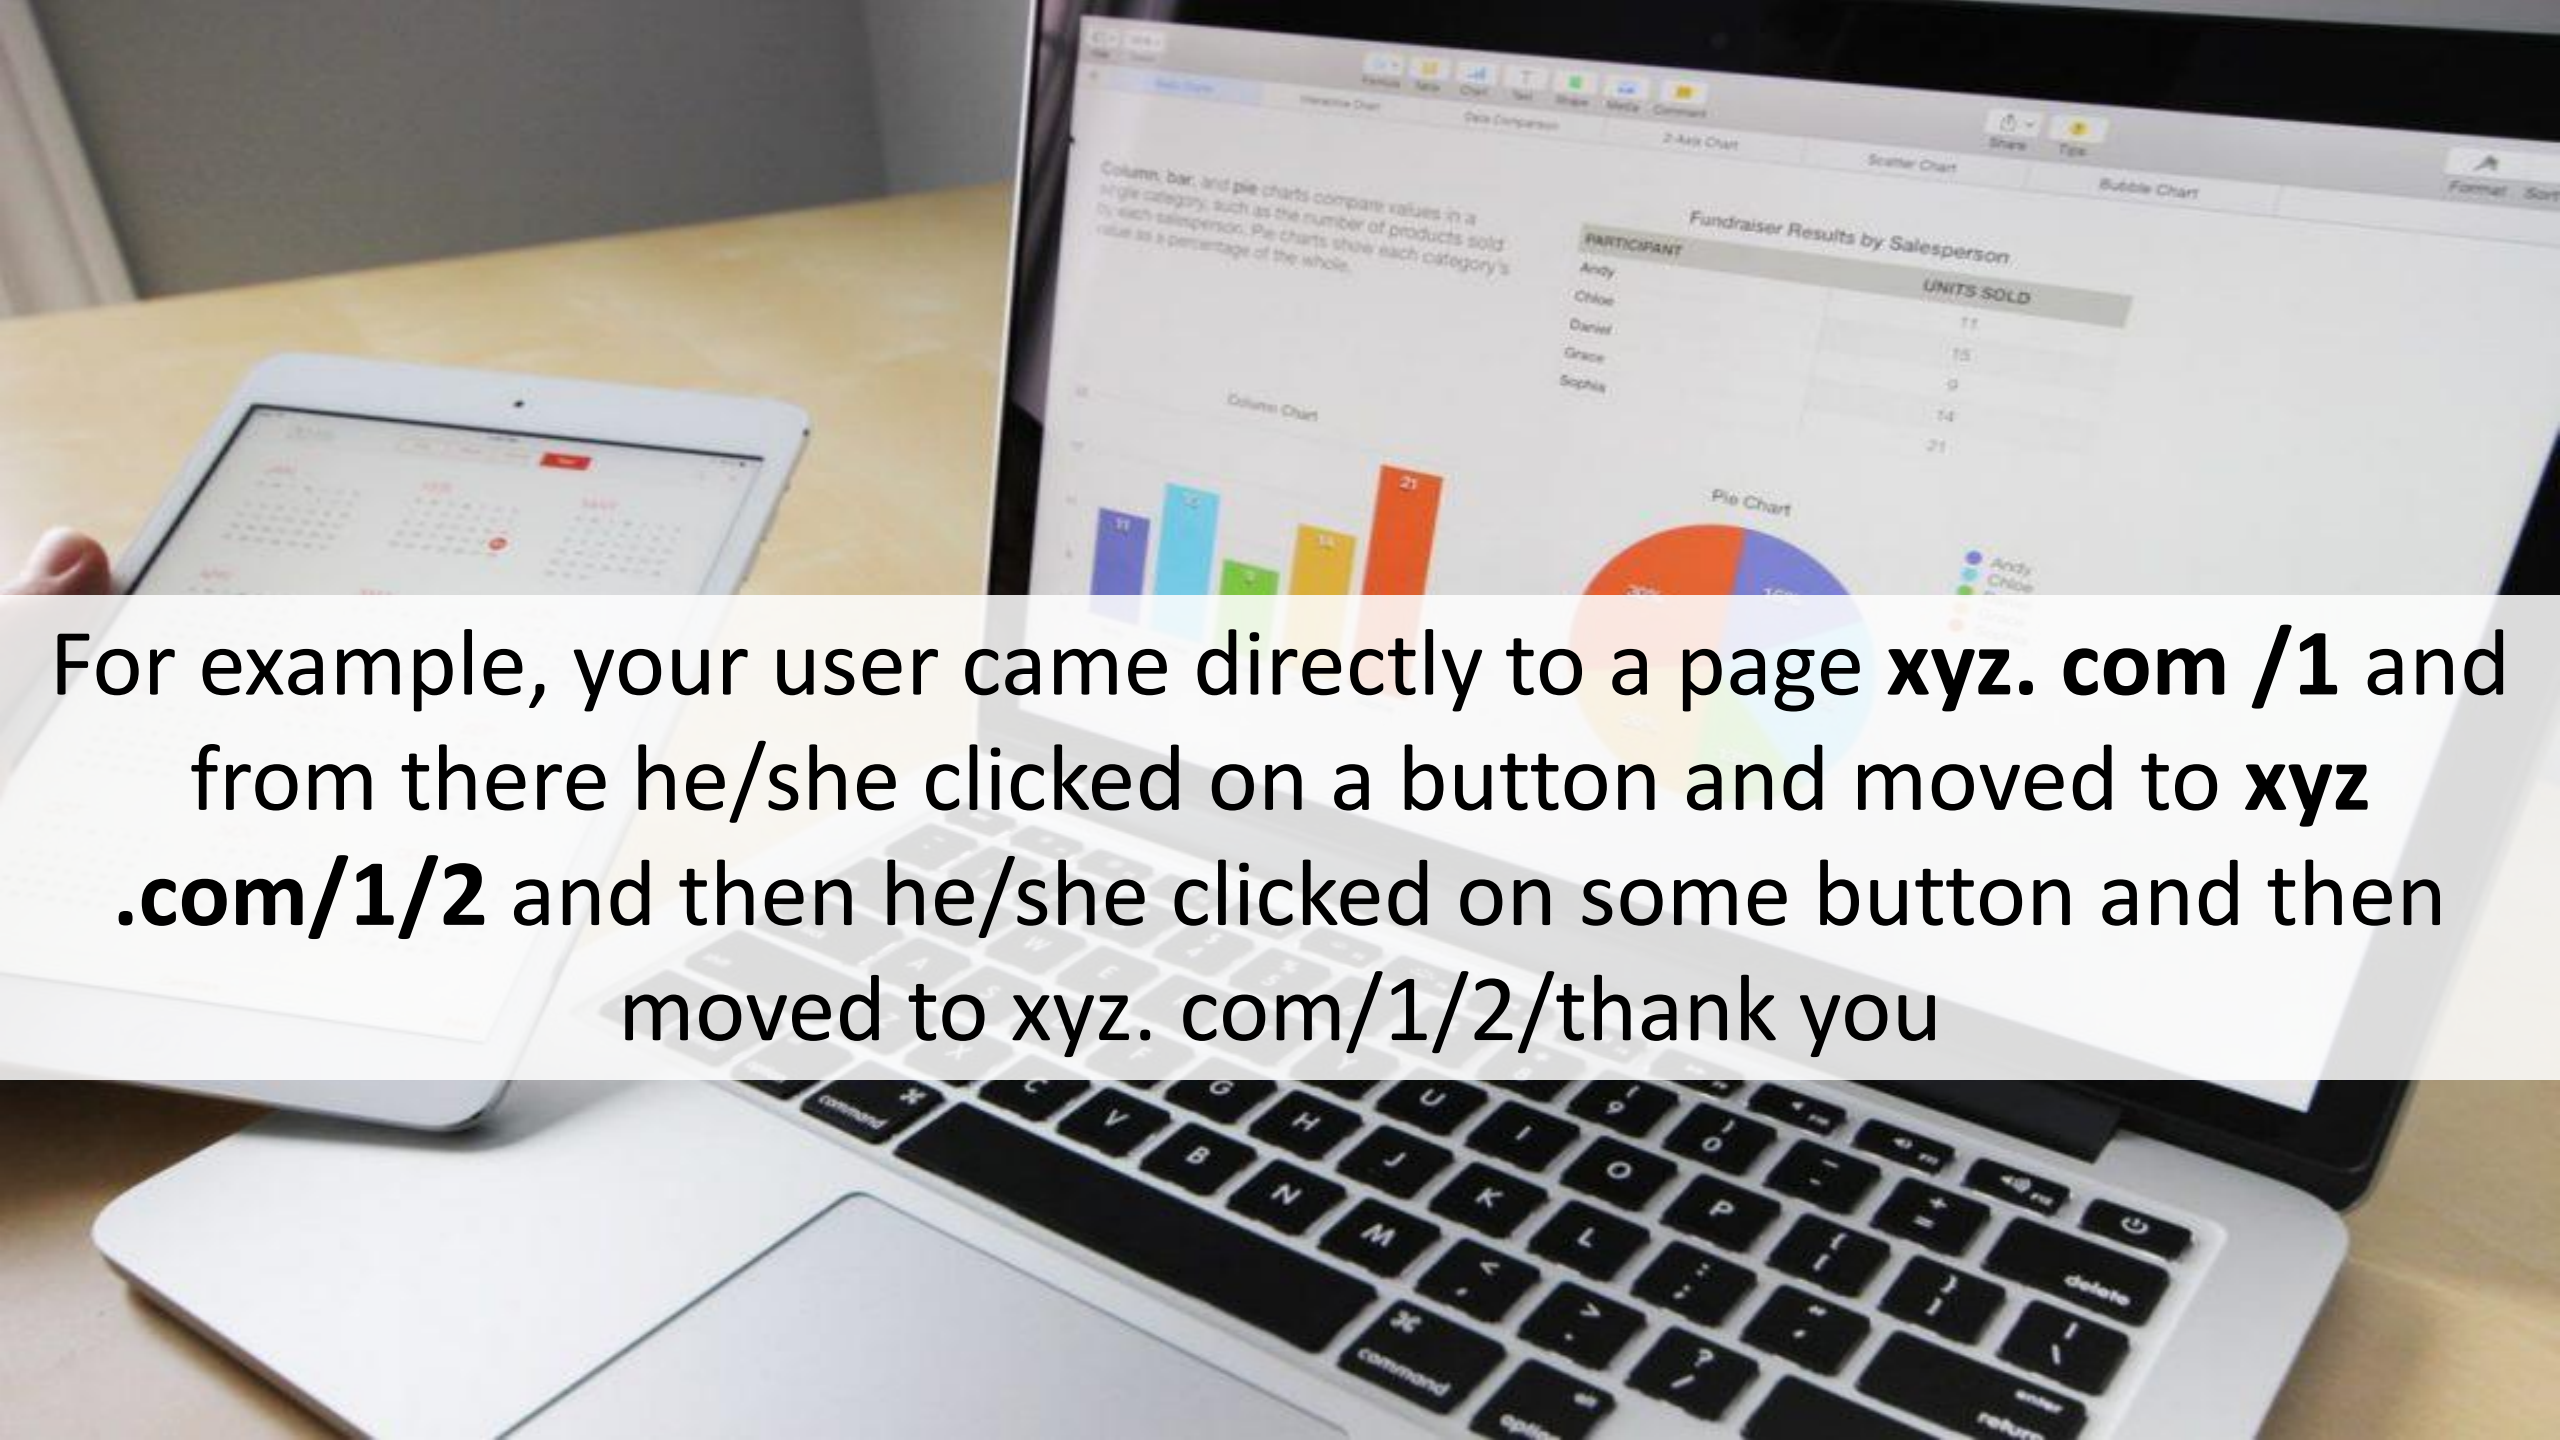




THE KEY DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A LANDING PAGE AND A FUNNEL

While a landing page is a single web page with only one specific CTA, a sales funnel on the other hand is made up of many web pages that directs a customer towards his final sales decision. Funnels includes up-selling options as well.

Landing page is the web page where the users lands, which is the first touchpoint of the user on your website. Funnel is the user journey.



For example, your user came directly to a page xyz. com /1 and from there he/she clicked on a button and moved to xyz .com/1/2 and then he/she clicked on some button and then moved to xyz. com/1/2/thank you and the funnel is the visualization of the user journey till the /thank you page

FAQ’s AFFILIATE PROGRAM

Is it free to become an Affiliate?

Yes, it is 100% free to become an Affiliate partner and promote the platform.

What are the payment options?

You have to provide us a PayPal email or Bank Information plus a valid invoice to transfer the payment to you.

How do I get paid?

For every successful subscription from a referral who registered through you, you will get a commission to your account. Payments will be transferred to the payable balance after 30 days from a successful subscription event. The minimum payout amount is 100 USD and you must have at least 3 active referrals.

What are the payment options?

You have to provide us a PayPal email or Bank Information plus a valid invoice to transfer the payment to you.

Can I use the affiliate for my own usage?

The affiliate is not for gaining a discount on your personal accounts and project. We maintain a strict policy and revise all the commissions and they will NOT be paid if such personal exploit is being detected.

Can I create multiple links for different campaigns?

Yes, you can create different links for your different campaigns and track how is each link performing. It is easily possible in ADM Website Builder platform.

Can I build a funnel to promote the product?

Absolutely, you can right away start with a funnel or a whole site to promote the platform. Of course, you'd have to subscribe to one of the subscription plans.
