The Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers

The Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN) is a nonprofit organization that is responsible for coordinating the maintenance and procedures of several databases related to the namespaces of the Internet, ensuring the network's stable and secure operation. ICANN performs the actual technical maintenance work of the central Internet address pools and DNS root zone registries pursuant to the Internet Assigned Numbers Authority (IANA) function contract. The contract regarding the IANA stewardship functions between ICANN and the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) of the United States Department of Commerce ended on October 1, 2016, formally transitioning the functions to the global multistakeholder community.

Much of its work has concerned the Internet's global Domain Name System (DNS), including policy development for internationalization of the DNS system, introduction of new generic top-level domains (TLDs), and the operation of root name servers. The numbering facilities ICANN manages include the Internet Protocol address spaces for IPv4 and IPv6, and assignment of address blocks to regional Internet registries. ICANN also maintains registries of Internet Protocol identifiers.

ICANN's primary principles of operation have been described as helping preserve the operational stability of the Internet; to promote competition; to achieve broad representation of the global Internet community; and to develop policies appropriate to its mission through bottom-up, consensus-based processes.

ICANN

ICANN was created on September 18, 1998, and incorporated on September 30, 1998, in the U.S. state of California.[7] It is headquartered in the Playa Vista neighborhood of Los Angeles.

The global coordination of the DNS Root, IP addressing, and other Internet protocol resources is performed as the Internet Assigned Numbers Authority (IANA) functions.

mains (gTLD): Top-level domains with three or more characters restricted generic top-level domains (grTLD): These domains are managed under official ICANN accredited registrars.

sponsored top-level domains (sTLD): These domains are proposed and sponsored by private agencies or organizations that establish and enforce rules restricting the eligibility to use the TLD. Use is based on community theme concepts; these domains are managed under official ICANN accredited registrars.

country-code top-level domains (ccTLD): Two-letter domains established for countries or territories. With some historical exceptions, the code for any territory is the same as its two-letter ISO 3166 code.

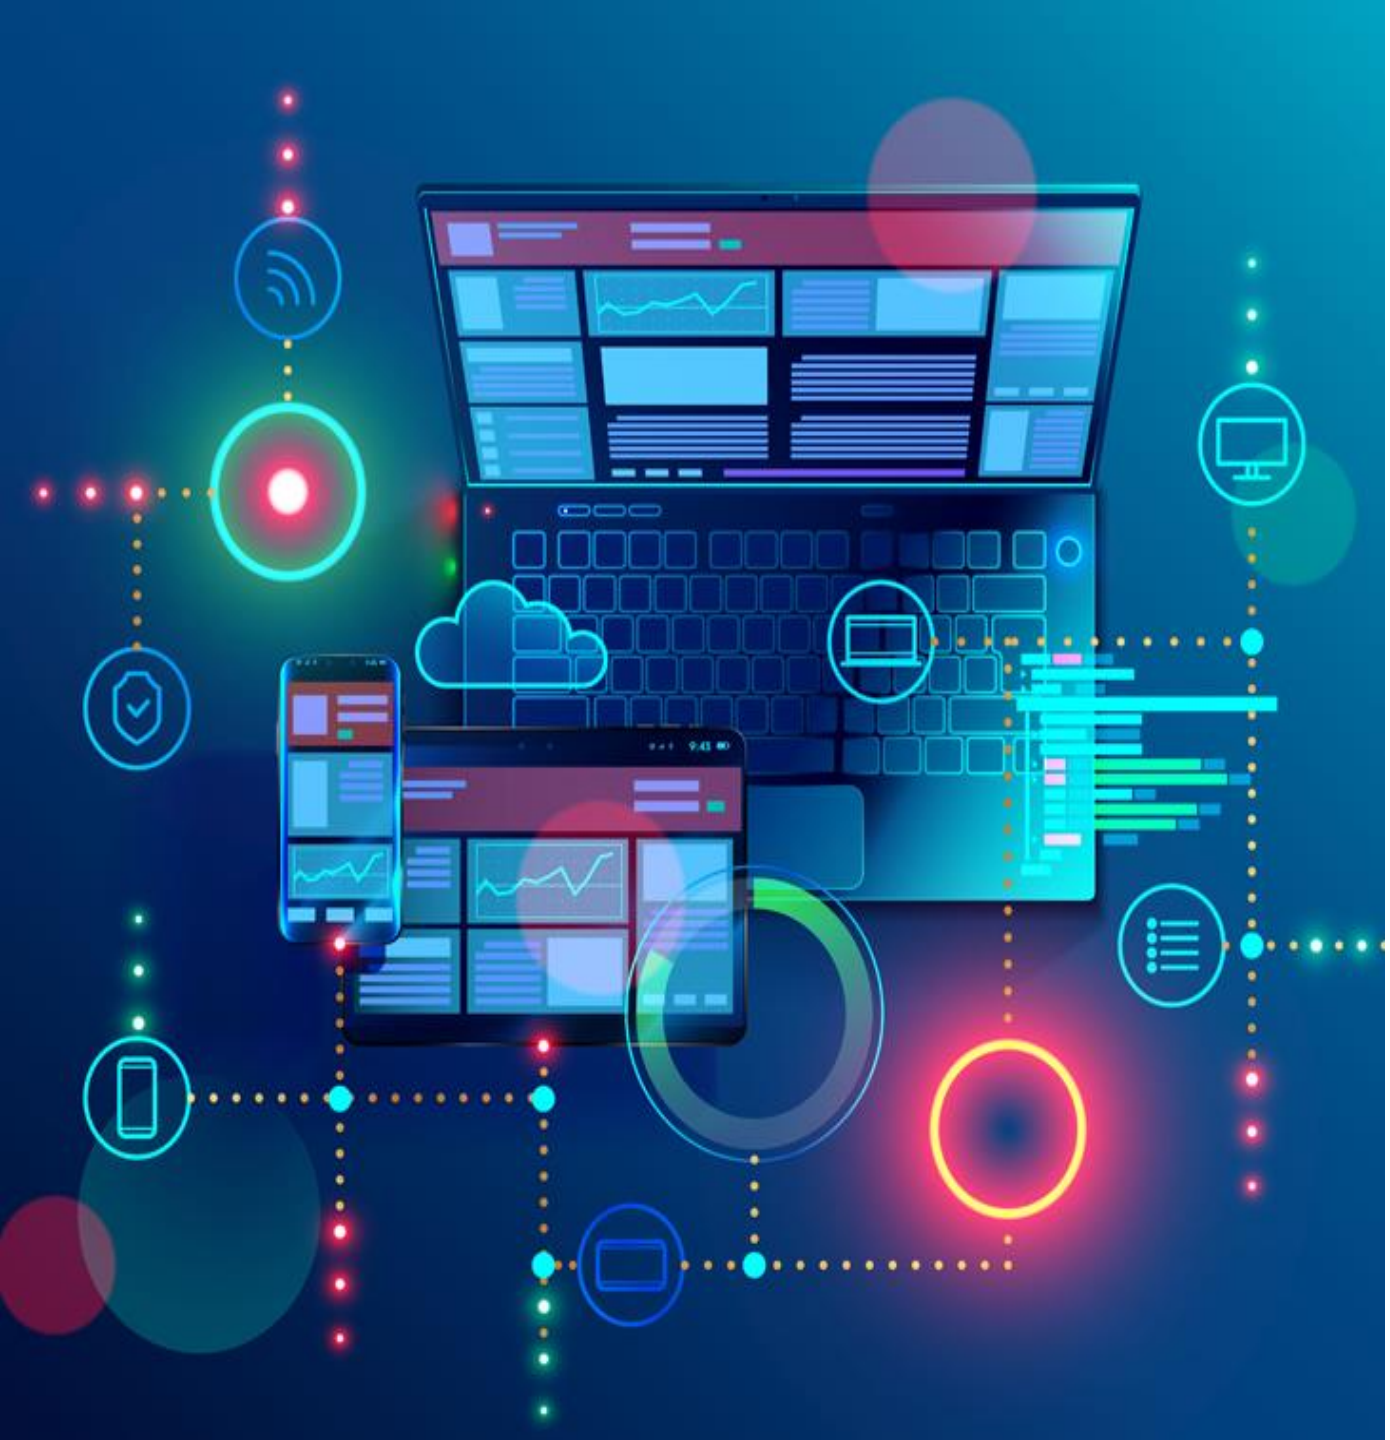
Countries are designated in the Domain Name System by their two-letter ISO country code;[14] there are exceptions, however (e.g., .uk). This group of domains is therefore commonly known as country-code top-level domains (ccTLD). Since 2009, countries with non–Latin-based scripts may apply for internationalized country code top-level domain names, which are displayed in end-user applications in their language-native script or alphabet, but use a Punycode-translated ASCII domain name in the Domain Name System.

Generic top-level domains (formerly Categories) initially consisted of gov, edu, com, mil, org, and net. More generic TLDs have been added, such as info.

The authoritative list of currently existing TLDs in the root zone is published at the IANA website at https://www.iana.org/domains/root/db/

Internationalized country code TLDs

An internationalized country code top-level domain (IDN ccTLD) is a top-level domain with a specially encoded domain name that is displayed in an end user application, such as a web browser, in its language-native script or alphabet, such as the Arabic alphabet, or a non-alphabetic writing system, such as Chinese characters.



ICANN started to accept applications for IDN ccTLDs in November 2009,[15] and installed the first set into the Domain Names System in May 2010. The first set was a group of Arabic names for the countries of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and the United Arab Emirates. By May 2010, 21 countries had submitted applications to ICANN, representing 11 scripts.

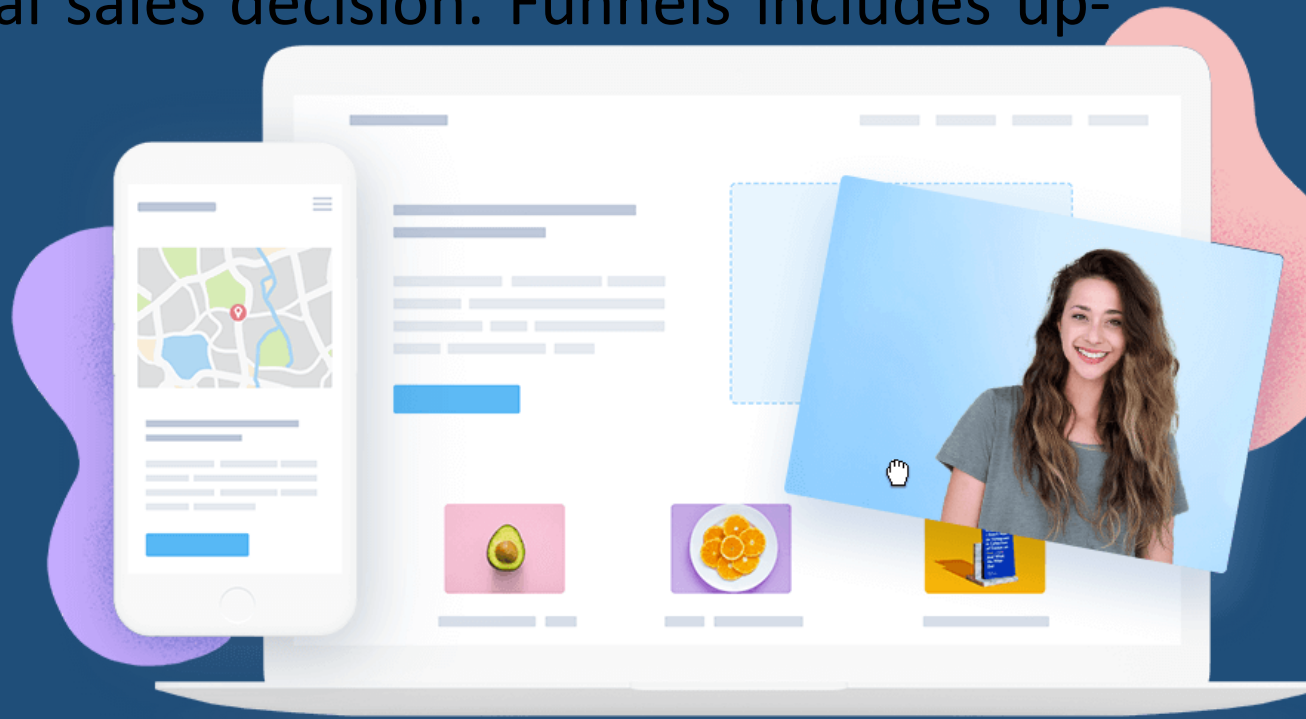
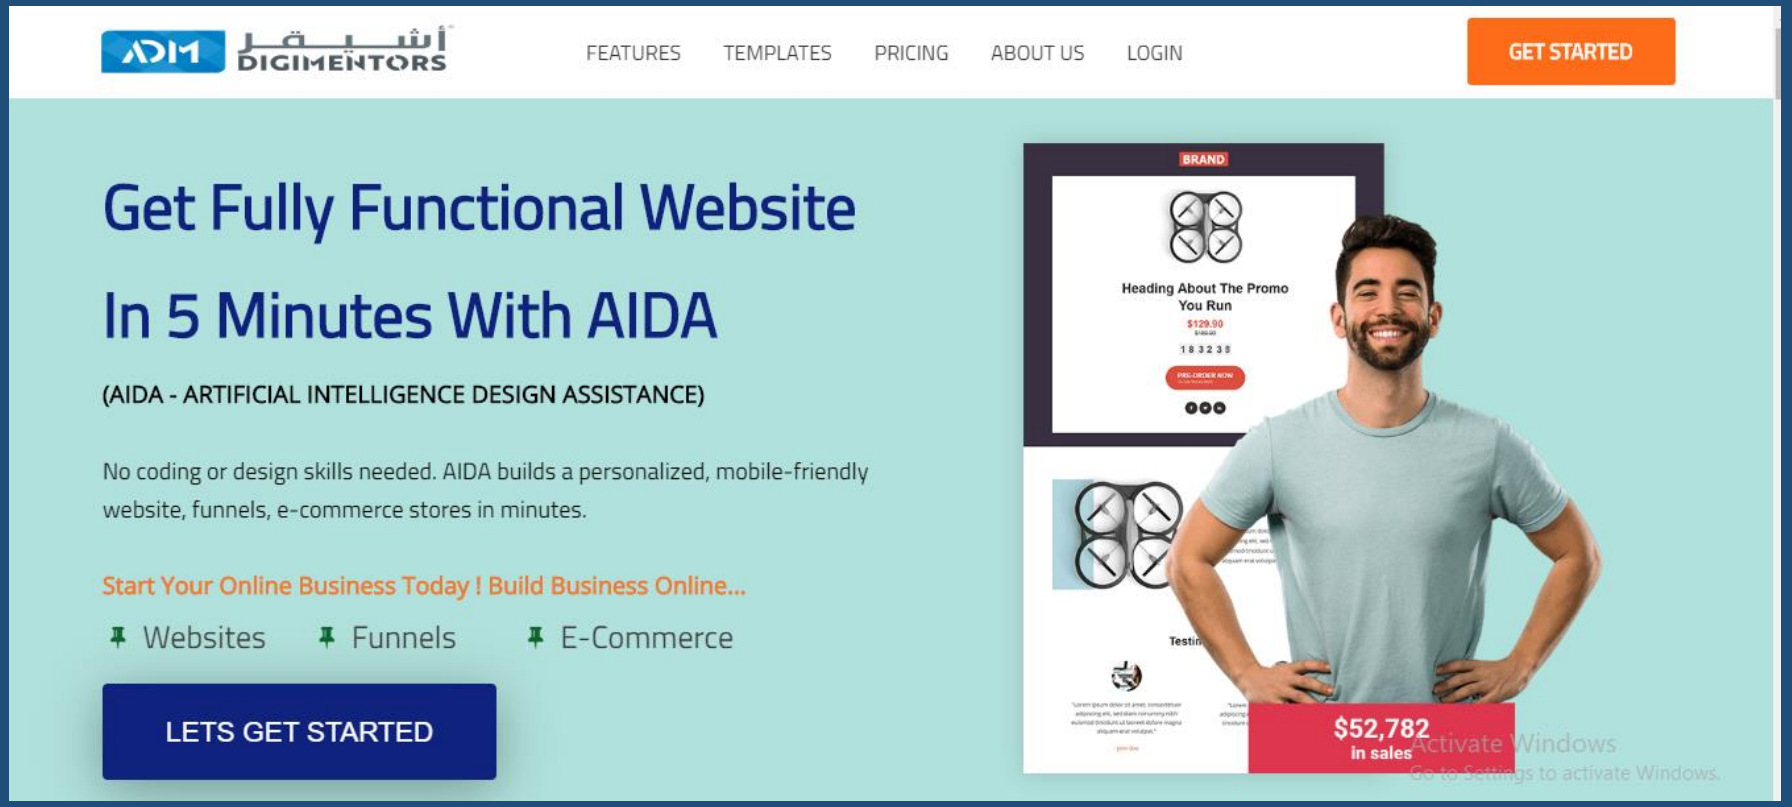
Difference between Landing Page and funnel

While a landing page is a single web page with only one specific CTA, a sales funnel on the other hand is made up of many web pages that directs a customer towards his final sales decision. Funnels includes up-selling options as well.



One of the main feature of ADM Website builder is “No Coding”



- Majority are using technically educated people to create website, even though they are expensive they have to pay huge amount for a single website. Also they have to approach with the designer for each updation on the website again and again.

Smoothest Drag & Drop Builder

NO CODE! Use your mouse to modify your design and create the pages you ever wanted.

FAQ’s AFFILIATE PROGRAM

Is it free to become an Affiliate?

Yes, it is 100% free to become an Affiliate partner and promote the platform.

What are the payment options?

You have to provide us a PayPal email or Bank Information plus a valid invoice to transfer the payment to you.

How do I get paid?

For every successful subscription from a referral who registered through you, you will get a commission to your account. Payments will be transferred to the payable balance after 30 days from a successful subscription event. The minimum payout amount is 100 USD and you must have at least 3 active referrals.

What are the payment options?

You have to provide us a PayPal email or Bank Information plus a valid invoice to transfer the payment to you.

Can I use the affiliate for my own usage?

The affiliate is not for gaining a discount on your personal accounts and project. We maintain a strict policy and revise all the commissions and they will NOT be paid if such personal exploit is being detected.

Can I create multiple links for different campaigns?

Yes, you can create different links for your different campaigns and track how is each link performing. It is easily possible in ADM Website Builder platform.

Can I build a funnel to promote the product?

Absolutely, you can right away start with a funnel or a whole site to promote the platform. Of course, you'd have to subscribe to one of the subscription plans.
